My Foreign Language Teacher

Nowadays, a teacher is one of the most necessary, but at the same time the most difficult professions. I believe that teachers serve humanity doing the most vital job at all. To my mind, a good teacher should be smart, broad-minded and understanding.

My English teacher Lyubov Yaroslavovna is very diligent and skilled. She has been teaching English at our school since September 1st. In this short period of time Lyubov Yaroslavovna managed to get used to our class and was able to find a way with every student. She has pupils' interests at heart.

Two weeks ago, we began solving tests in English. Some children did not immediately succeed in writing them in Excellent, but later they could catch up with the class and deepen their vocabulary due to the help of Lyubov Yaroslavovna.

From the first class I attend to my studies in earnest and work tooth and nail. From Lyubov Yaroslavovna I could learn a lot of new things. She explains to us various topics in great detail and teaches English so that children understand her almost the first time. She caters as much as possible to each students' individual needs.

In my opinion, a good teacher should stimulate a sense interest, encourage imagination and independence of mind and have a good command of the subject, so Lyubov Yaroslavovna is a true example of a good teacher.
